WHIPPED TWO MEN FOR INSULTING THEIR WIVES

Two Young Men of The Pee Dee Neighborhood Punished
Two Men From Trigg County.

Mrs. Will Dockery and Mrs. Albert Lindsay, who were riding in a buggy near Binns Mill, Saturday, were insulted by a couple of rowdies from Trigg county. Arriving at their homes near by, the ladies reported the matter to their husbands who started at once in search of the men and soon located them at the mill. Mr. Binns persuaded them not to do further harm to them than to administer a severe whipping. Securing buggy whips they proceeded to whip them without mercy. Several of their friends stood by and witnessed the punishment.

HENDERSON HIT

By a Terrific Wind and Hail Storm Monday.

One of the hardest combined rain, wind, hail and thunder storms which ever passed over Henderson, left a trail of damage through the city and county Monday evening which is estimated at from fifty to one hundred thousand dollars. In the city shade trees suffered severely, two places were struck by lightning, and the streets were flooded. In the county tobacco leaves were stripped by the hail, corn was blown down, standing water damaged both tobacco and corn, and telephone service is badly crippled. The same storm extended into Webster county, the damage to growing crops being estimated at $100,000.—Henderson Journal.

NEWSTEAD DRY

Wet Side Was Badly Beaten in Yesterday's Election.

An election was held in the Newstead district yesterday on local option. About 210 votes were polled out of a possible 300. There are nearly 200 negro voters in the district and they were well organized for the wet. The dry side took a decided lead at the start and held it all day, winning by a eleven majority. There is one saloon in the district, that of Joe Ledford, at Pee Dee.

Miss Dawson Appointed.

Miss Maude A. Dawson, of Henderson, was this week appointed postmaster at that place.

COLORED BAPTISTS MEET IN GENERAL ASSOCIATION

Body Represents 80,000 Members and Will be In Session
All The Week.

The general association of colored Baptists of Kentucky is holding its 40th annual meeting at the Virginia Street Baptist church, and will continue the meetings until after Sunday. Last night's meeting was held in the Tabernacle and the Sunday meeting will also be there. Formal addresses of welcome were made last night, and were responded to by the moderator.

Rev. J. W. Hawans, of Lexington, is the moderator and W. H. Stewart, of Louisville, is Secretary. About 300 messengers and many visitors are in the city, who are being entertained by the colored people of all denominations.

FORSTON HILL CHURCH.

Eighth Pastoral Anniversary
Held Sunday.

Forston Hill Baptist church, colored, held their eighth pastoral anniversary Sunday. Rev. J. L. Alenworth has been pastor of the church since its organization. Rev. Wallace assisted the pastor in the exercises during the day and Rev. Henderson, of South Carolina, preached at night. Very large crowds attended all the services.

Corporal Talley.

Corporal Urey Talley, of the United States Army, stationed at St. Louis barracks, is at home on a month's furlough. He spent last winter at home and did some service for the city as a special policeman; but in the Spring re-enlisted in the army and was made a corporal and upon his return expects to become a sergeant. Corp. Talley is one of the finest looking soldiers in Uncle Sam's employ. Of magnificent physique and resplendent in a new uniform, he is a conspicuous figure on the streets.

To State University.

Thos. Earle and Raymond Tichenor, graduates of the Hopkinsville Public Schools, have been appointed to county scholarships in the State University at Lexington. They won the honors in a competitive examination. Both young men are bright young fellows and good students and may be expected to acquire themselves with credit.

J. F. Ellis has returned from a vacation spent on Lake Michigan.

HIT ON HEAD

Rendered Unconscious.

Mr. John C. White, of this city, was rendered unconscious by a blow on the head Tuesday. He was at work on a building on the Wallace place, four miles south of the city, and had started to climb a ladder when a plank fell upon him, knocking him to the ground and cutting a gash in his head, laying bare the skull.

IMPROVED SAW HANDLE.

May Be Adjusted at Right Angles or in Alignment.

In the accompanying cut is shown a handle particularly adapted for use with a saw, though it will be evident that it may be used for other tools as well. The handle is so arranged that it may be adjusted at right angles to the alignment with the saw blade. This adjustment permits the saw to be carried without difficulty through the woods, because the handle may be so set as not to project beyond the main body of the saw. The details of the handle are best shown in Fig. 3. The handle proper is indicated at A and fits into a socket, B. The lower end of the socket is threaded to receive a member, C. The latter is slotted, and in the slot the saw blade E is fitted. Between the member C and the socket piece B a washer, D, is mounted, and when the socket piece B is firmly screwed on the member C it presses the washer D into engagement with the back of the saw blade.

The saw blade is secured to the member C by means of a pair of pins, F, which pass transversely through the member and the usual holes provided in the saw blade. The pins are prevented from slipping out by a retaining piece, G, which is pivoted to swing over them. The usual holes in the saw blade are placed at different distances from the edge in various makes; but, as the slot in the retaining member C is quite deep, these differences will not prevent the handle from being secured to any blade. Figs. 1 and 2 show how the handle may be attached in alignment and at right angles, respectively, to the saw blade. The inventors of this handle are Messrs. E. A. Patterson and E. F. Dickinson, Morgan City, La.

LARGEST LACE MACHINE.

Invention For Effecting Economy and Greater Production.

Consul Frank W. Mahin reports that what is claimed to be the largest lace machine ever made has just been built in Nottingham, England.

The machine contains many important improvements designed to counteract the influence of a foreign machine of similar character which has proved a serious competitor to the usual type of Nottingham lace machines. The new machine is forty-one feet long and produces lace 230 inches wide. It is intended chiefly for heavy torsons and muslin laces.

A special feature of the machine is the entire absence of vibration, a defect fatal to many lace machines. This improvement, which is deemed remarkable because of the machine's great size, is produced by special gearing and by an arrangement of concussion springs instead of the ordinary elastic or spiral springs. Other improvements simplify and make easy the operation of putting in threads to replace broken ones and of taking the carriages out of the machine—operations slow and laborious in many machines and sometimes damaging the lace that is being woven. The new machine is so satisfactory that the construction of several more of the same kind has begun.

Tuberculous Milk and Children.
William Leland Stowell of New York describes the results of the feeding of the children of some of the wards of the City Hospital for Children on Ward's Island on milk from a city herd that was afterward ascertained to be tuberculous. The herd was tested, and all the animals in it had to be killed, as the test showed some degree of tuberculous infection in all. All the children who had been fed in this milk were tested by the opificational reaction, seventy-seven in all. Of these nineteen reacted, thirteen were slight cases of tuberculousness and three were not suspected of tuberculousness. The author concludes that fresh cream milk is more wholesome than pasteurized milk. The danger of infection from tuberculous milk is very slight. Less than 1 per cent mortality in the whole hospital was due to tuberculous—Medical Record.

High Temperature.
High temperatures may play an important part in our daily work, and it is interesting to note the following actual temperatures of familiar objects and operations as determined by a new optical pyrometer: Porcelain furnace, 2,406 degrees F.; glass furnace, 2,052 degrees; open hearth steel, 2,795 degrees; railroad, 1,226 degrees; incandescent lamp, 2,272 degrees; are lamp, 7,410 degrees; the sun, 13,712 degrees.

Vegetable Fatigue Toxin.
The fatigue toxin obtained by Weichardt from the muscles of tired animals has been now extracted by him from such vegetable substances as opium, poppy heads and curare and has been also prepared by oxidizing albumins. When swallowed the vegetable toxin yields the same fatigue effects as the animal toxin.

PARTNERSHIP FENCES

The New Fence Law Passed by the Last Legislature.

The last General Assembly passed a fence law which requires all property owners to construct a lawful fence on division line, and if one property owner does not build his own half of the fence the other may, after written notice of three months, build the fence and shall have a lien superior to all others for the half erected by him.

The law is as follows:
Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. That Section 1784, of the Kentucky Statutes, be amended by adding thereto and following the word "and" the cost of erecting such fence shall constitute a lien superior to all others, upon the land of the recusant in favor of the party erecting such fence, and shall be enforced as other liens, so that said section 1784 of Kentucky Statutes when so amended shall read as follows:

Section 1784. When a division fence is desirable, or is made necessary by the division of improved or enclosed lands, or when no fence or division fence exists between the improved or enclosed lands of adjoining owners, or the lands where the right of way is owned by one party, either party may, after he has built a lawful fence out of planks, rails, wire and plank upon his portion of the line; but no barbed wire fence shall be used without the consent of both parties to the fence; and if he fails to do so, after three months' notice, in writing, may erect such fence, and the cost of erecting such fence shall constitute a lien, superior to all others, upon the land of the recusant in favor of the party erecting such fence, and shall be enforced as other liens.

But the provision of this section shall not apply where the party who erects the fence has received compensation for erecting his entire line or where written agreements concerning the fencing have been entered into. But nothing herein shall be construed to conflict with an act requiring railroad corporations and other persons operating and controlling railroads and owners to fence their right of way and railroad track, and to construct barriers and cattle guards at certain public roads and highway crossings, and to maintain and keep the same in repair, and prescribe remedies and penalties for failing to do so. "Approved August fifth one thousand eight hundred and ninety two, that no barbed wire shall be used by any one in construction of a division fence." Approved March 20, 1908.

The Other Great Man.
Dr. Russell Cool of California happened to suppress an epidemic of measles while on a vacation trip to Tahiti, and Chief Oronoi gratefully invited him to a banquet in his primitive palace. The south sea potentate and his white guest sat amiably on the floor and dined off roast pig and other native dishes served on bread leaves and eaten with the fingers. After dinner host and guest adjourned to seats outside the palace, lit long fat, black cigars and gazed out over the moult Pacific. In the eyes of Chief Oronoi, Robert Louis Stevenson, who did so much to improve the condition of the south sea Islanders, was the greatest white man that ever lived. The chief related to Dr. Cool many incidents to illustrate Stevenson's kindness, then asked a score of questions about the health of Stevenson's widow and of his stepchildren. When the last question had been answered there followed a long period of silence. The two friends pulled slowly at their cigars and fruitfully regarded the radiant tropic moonlight glowing upon rustling palm fronds and the silvery ocean. Then Oronoi turned to the doctor and demanded, "Now tell me about John L. Sullivan"—Harper's Weekly.

Freezing Flesh.
It is a curious fact that, although dwellers in northern climes must have known for ages that a low temperature preserves flesh from putrefaction, they never seem to have struck any one that this natural fact could be turned to artificial advantage until Lord Bacon stuffed the historic chicken with snow and thereby caught a chill which killed him. It is perhaps even more curious that an experiment resulting in the death of one of the most eminent men of the world should have called any attention to an already well known principle which might have been readily turned to great advantage. As a matter of fact, it was not until the year 1875, 240 years after Lord Bacon's fatal experiment, that freezing was practically employed as a method of preserving flesh. This was the commencement of the frozen meat trade between America and England. Four years later a dry air refrigerator was perfected.

THE BLOOD LINE.

Most Potent Factor in Telling the Correct Story of Descent.

A drop of the blood of a walrus shows no relation with a drop of whale's blood or of the blood of any other cetacean, such as seals or porpoises, which, like the walrus, are mammals that have taken to the sea, says Dr. William Hanna Thompson in Everybody's. Instead of that, the blood of the walrus immediately reacts with the blood of horses, asses and zebras, thus proving that he is an equine that no longer crops grass, but goes where he can live on an exclusively fish diet. Likewise the hippopotamus is shown to be a modified fish.

Where the blood relationship exists, but is distant, these reactions are proportionately faint, but where no reactions occur there is no relationship at all. Thus geology indicates that birds are descended from reptiles, and, oddly enough, the blood of a bird shows a distinct though very faint reaction with the blood of a snake, but none whatever with that of the winged bat or the flying squirrel, for these are mammals.

On the other hand, the marsupials, once such a great family, but now reduced to the kangaroo, the opossum and a small creature in South America, have not a single blood relation left. As to man, he has no relationship to monkeys, but the blood of anthropoid apes shows a very faint reaction with his. Meantime all the races of man are unmistakably of one blood, whatever their color or abode.

Hence the blood is by far the most hereditary thing about us. Neither the shape of the skeleton nor the contour of the body nor brain, heart, lungs, stomach, intestines, liver or skin nor even ancestral habits about the great food question—how to eat or keep from being eaten—are comparable to a single drop of blood for telling the correct story of descent. All this gives a new meaning to the words, "For the blood thereof is the life thereof." Likewise the old saying that insanity runs in the blood now wears a scientific look since blood and family are so inseparably associated.

A Waiter's Dilemma.

It was in one of the large downtown restaurants that the short little woman and her tall husband went for dinner one night.

"Will you have oysters?" asked the man, glancing over the bill of fare.

"Yes," said the short little woman as she tried in vain to touch her toes to the floor. "And, John, I want a hassock."

John nodded, and as he handed his order to the waiter he said, "Yes, and bring a hassock for the lady."

"One hassock?" asked the waiter, with what John thought more than ordinary interest, as he nodded in the affirmative. Still the waiter did not go, but brushed the tablecloth with a towel and rearranged the articles on it several times, while his face got very red. Then he came around to John's side and, speaking sotto voce, said: "Say, mister, I haven't been here long, and I'm not on to all these things. Will the lady have the hassock broiled or fried?"—Chicago Chronicle.

When Children Were Made to Smoke, It may seem strange that there was a period in English history when juvenile smoking was enforced officially, but it is nevertheless true. The diarist Hearn in writing of the plague of London, says: "Even children were obliged to smoke. And I remember that I heard formerly Tom Rogers, who was yeoman butler, say that when he was a schoolboy at Eton that year when the plague raged all the boys of that school were obliged to smoke in the school every morning and that he was never whipped so much in his life as he was one morning for not smoking."—London Chronicle.

Talkative.

"That woman who lives next door, James," said Eliza, the young married woman, to her husband, "is the laziest, drowsiest, most gossiping person I have met during my whole life! She does nothing but talk, talk, talk, morning, noon and night! I am perfectly certain that she can never get any work done."

"Ah," replied her husband, "I thought she was a chatterbox! And to whom does she talk all day long?"

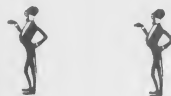

"Why, my dear, to me, of course," was the reply. "She talks to me over the garden wall."—London Scraps.

It is lively and easy riding, very durable and constructed with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting quality being given by several layers of this specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $10.00, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the user of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them exactly as represented. If you will allow a cash discount of 10 per cent. for early payment, the price $4.80 per pair. If you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement, we will also send one nickel plated brass button. TIRES to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above. ### The Weather.

FOR KENTUCKY.—Showers
Thursday, followed by clearing and cooler.

The Kentuckian's subscription business continues to show a steady and substantial increase. In the face of the law requiring papers to be stopped when out, the cash receipts from subscriptions during the month of July were three times as great as they were during July, 1907. An increase of 200 per cent in the duldest season of a dull year, is indeed gratifying and we lift our hat to the best and most loyal constituency a paper ever had.

The race for Sheriff in Montgomery County, Tenn., resulted 578 for W. E. Dowlen and 2241 for C. J. Blanton. In one district Dowlen did not receive a vote and in three others he received only one vote. Dowlen is the candidate who came out in a card announcing that he was opposed to night riders. In the city at Clarksville he was defeated by 32 votes in the two precincts. In Palmyra district, where the raid occurred this week, Dowlen got 5 votes and his opponent 97.

The Courier-Journal is making the fight of its life for the restoration of law in Kentucky. The State Journal at is also squarely on the side of the Republican Governor in the effort to put down lawlessness. Let it be said to the eternal credit of the press of Kentucky, that with a few conspicuous exceptions, the city and country papers are and courageously leading the battle to rid Kentucky's good name. The people of Kentucky are opposed to anarchy and in favor of law and order.

Discussing Gov. Wilson's plain talk to the derelict officers of Bracken county, the Nashville American says: "Let his acts back up his words, and soon there will be peace where terror now reigns. The night rider must be suppressed, and can be suppressed if the authorities of Kentucky and Tennessee act with vigor. The planters' efforts to get a living price for his product will be applauded by all right thinking men, but he must act within the law. When he goes beyond the law, he should be arrested and punished. Any other course means anarchy."

Won Three Straights.

Hopkinsville won the last game of the series of three played here with the Draughton team Monday, the score being 14 to 12 in favor of the locals. The same teams played again yesterday afternoon and there will be still another contest between them this afternoon.

DR. MCCORMACK ON SANITATION

Written Report on the Condition of Little River.

SUGGESTS A REMEDY.

Advises That Steps be Taken to Take Asylum Sewerage Out of East Fork.

Bowling Green, Ky., Aug. 8, '08. Drs. Woodard and Jackson, City and County Health Officers, Hopkinsville, Kentucky, Gentlemen: As the result of the inspection of sanitary conditions in your city recently made by me, I write to ask you to urge the importance of having the use of the private sewers discontinued, absolutely and forever, at the earliest practicable date. Little River has such a slight current and has so many obstructions to its flow, that it is little more than a stagnant pool, and its volume of water is so small as compared with the amount of condensed sewage emptying into it constantly as to make the contamination not only offensive, but dangerous to the public health along its entire course in the city and country.

Your people should understand that they are yet a practically unsewered city on account of the small number of connections with the system in either the business or the residence sections. My advice would be that your Council pass an ordinance requiring immediate connections of all business houses and public institutions and of residences in the business sections, with a gradual extension on the principal and other streets until the work is completed. I think it would be better and cheaper in the end for the city to buy and conduct the plant, and it would probably cause less complaint from those who will be forced to make connections, but this is a business phase of the matter with which I have nothing to do, and I have no information as to who are the present owners.

This is all of so much importance that it may be well for you to call a public meeting, including the public spirited women, to discuss the subject and send a delegation to the council to represent the necessity for it. In the meantime, at least two good men should be detailed to make a weekly inspection of surface closets, back premises and cellars, in order to see that they are kept clean and that time is freely used, especially on the fecal matter. The obstructions, weeds as well as brush and rocks should be taken out of the river, and it should be made the duty of some one of the inspectors to see that this work is kept up regularly. What I am suggesting will cost something, but money will be better spent for this than for sickness, with the medical, drugs and other bills incident thereto, to say nothing of the suffering and loss of time and life inseparable from the conditions so abundantly disclosed by the inspection.

Had only time to look at one of your dairies, that of Mr. Morris, which was found fairly clean, and one slaughter house, where the conditions were so horrible and disgusting that it should be condemned and closed without ceremony, in the name of both health and decency. I failed to take the name of the owner of this place or I would be glad to give it publicity. As a result of the inspection of the outlet for the Asylum sewer, and the stream into which it flows, I would advise that the County Board of Health give written notice to the Board of Control requiring the construction of a Septic Tank at some proper point.

Thanking you both for the cordial co-operation you have always given this Board in its life-saving work, and trusting that you may be able to secure the popular support so essential to the reforms I have suggested, I am,

Very Truly Yours,
J. N. McCormack, Secretary.

MID-NIGHT BLAZE

Does Damage to Stock and Building.

Fire was discovered in the basement of Mr. J. Miller Clark's grocery about 12:30 yesterday morning. An alarm was turned in and the fire department was on hand in a short while and succeeded in saving the building, but the stock was considerably damaged by smoke and heat. The floor of the building burned through in several places, the loss on the building, which belongs to the Peter Postell estate, being several hundred dollars. Mr. Clark estimates his loss at from $1,500 to $1,800. The losses are covered by insurance. It is not known how the fire originated, but one theory is that some one in passing threw a cigar stump upon the pavement and it rolled into the basement of the store through a basement window.

COURT SPRINGS BIG SURPRISE

Judge Cook Demands Grand Jury Investigation.

ELLIS CASE TO JURY.

Court Officers Openly Accused of Being Night Riders.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 12.—What was begun as an uneventful day of forensic oratory at Murray was impregnated with some quickening interest in the trial of Jake Ellis, when the Commonwealth declared its purpose of prosecuting a certain important witness for the defense for trying to intimidate a State witness. The day also developed a decided sensation immediately after dinner, when Judge Cook summoned the grand jury into the circuit court room and from the bench charged that body in inquire into reports affecting the Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney.

Judge Cook said the report that he and Commonwealth's Attorney Denny Smith, of Trigg county, were night riders, had gained so great credence that he thought nothing less than an investigation by the grand jury would fit the case. He said it had been brought to his ears that fifty witnesses could be secured to swear that he had taken the night riders' oath and he named three men as witnesses who could tell the grand jury most about the report. These men are: Dr. B. F. Berry, a dentist, recently of Metropolis, Ill.; W. L. Whinnell, a prominent tobacco buyer, and J. D. Sexton, a merchant of Murray.

The statement of the judge in open court has set free a lot of gossip newspaper men on the ground have been able only to hint at. The facts are that the court has been freely and bitterly criticised ever since the Ellis case was called and few people in Calloway county or this section have considered a conviction in Calloway circuit possible.

Judge Cook first became the subject for gossiping tongues when he began making speeches at tobacco rallies in Calloway county this summer. Most of the charges he speaks of are mere gossip, but Judge Cook says he is going to sift the matter to the bottom.

The case of Jake Ellis went to the jury after five hours of argument. The testimony of Joe Ryan, concerning Ellis' alleged confession, made the case stronger than the prosecution had hoped. Judge Cook left the facts of the case alone in his charge, although he had commented to some extent during the course of the trial, and confined the charge to the law of the case. Even that was subjected to by the prosecution, which desired a fuller discussion of the laws bearing on the case.

It was stated by the prosecution that an arrest on the charge of intimidating a witness will be made and it will be decided then whether any more cases will be tried at this term.

Hung Jury.

Murray, Ky., Aug. 12.—No verdict yet and jury hung. All of the other cases have been continued. Several witnesses are here to testify in the Cook-Smith investigation.

SEWAGE PURIFICATION.

Magneto Electrolytic Process Destroys Organic Matter.

The installation has just been completed at Santa Monica, Cal., of the first electric plant for the purification of sewage to be erected in the United States. The system is known as the Harris magneto electrolytic process. It was ready for operation just as soon as the necessary outfall pipes can be laid. The plant consists of two wooden tanks, each thirty feet long, two feet wide and eighteen inches deep. Each tank is equipped with ten sets of electrodes and ten electro magnets weighing 300 pounds each. The electrodes are fitted with steel pipes for use in cleaning them. The electric energy is supplied by a direct current generator of special construction, equipped with a motor and separate exciter. A generator of this pattern is required to obtain perfect results, as the requisite is low voltage and high amperage in opposition to the requirements for power and light.

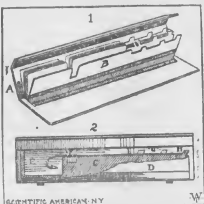

The plant is located in a concrete chamber, which is equipped with two compartments sealed tight, into which the sewage is pumped from the receiving basin. The purpose of these chambers is to secure an equalized flow through the electric tanks, and their combined capacity is 1,000,000 gallons per day. After leaving these sealed chambers, or forebays, the sewage is allowed to flow into the tanks in sufficient volume to cover the electrodes and the magnets to a depth of three inches. The current is turned on as the sewage flows steadily over the wires and enters the outfall pipe. By that time it is supposed to be odorless and perfectly harmless.

What actually happens as the sewage passes through these charged tanks has not been scientifically determined, but experience has demonstrated that, as the electric energy is required for the operation of the plant is held, the effect is to immediately release the hydrogen, and as it leaves the water the oxygen is released. The constituents of water being oxygen and hydrogen, the releasing of the latter precipitates all of the inorganic matter, and the releasing of the former forms an ozone which is responsible for the burning or oxidation of the organic matter. The result is that the sewage becomes immediately purified and if passed through a sand or other filter appears as pure sparkling water—Scientific American.

BOOK FOR FISHHOOKS.

Device Protects Barbs and Holds Snails Stretched.

The book illustrated in the accompanying engraving is particularly adapted to carry snail fishhooks in such manner that they can be placed in the pocket without danger of accidental engagement with the clothing or other objects. The books are also carried in such a manner that the snails are stretched to prevent them from snarling or receiving other injury. The book is provided with a suitable covering envelope and has a number of leaves, each of which is formed to receive snail hooks of different sizes. Special provision is made to facilitate the removal of the books from the book whenever desired.

In the engraving the envelope cover is indicated at A. It is provided with a flap, which will close over the opposite side of the book and cover the leaves B. Each leaf is formed on a body, C, of pasteboard, wood or other material and a pair of side pieces, D, of celluloid or paper. At one end the body of the leaf is cut away, forming a recess in which the hook proper is adapted to be received, as indicated in the sectional view, Fig. 2. At P both the body C and the side pieces D are cut away, forming a notch in which the fingers may be inserted to grasp the hook. The snail is stretched along the upper edge of the body C between the side pieces D. At the end of the leaf is a tongue, H, over which the end of the snail is caught.

In order to adapt the leaf for shorter snails, tongues G are formed on the side members D, over which the end of the snail may be secured. The book is held in closed position by means of a pair of rubber bands. The inventor is Pierre V. Erskine, Hollis, N. Y.

A Sparking Metal.

An alloy that gives off showers of sparks when struck with metal, igniting not only gas, but alcohol soaked wicks, was a recent accidental discovery of Auer von Welsbach. It consists of iron with cerium, lanthanum or other of the rare earths used for incandescent gas mantles, and the sparking is found to reach a maximum with the percentage of iron at 30%. A use for igniting explosives is suggested.

Test of Vision.

The Flathead has long formed an interesting test of vision. To ordinary eyesight six stars are visible, but keen eyed persons see seven and even eleven or more. Reporting late observations, P. Vincart, an Antwerp astronomer, mentions counting thirteen

BUSYBODIES VS. TRUTH.

Here Are The Facts—Judge For Yourself.

Busybodies who see in success only failure, who, without making an effort to inform themselves, hastily cry out against honesty and truth—seem to forget that a slur against Dr. Pierce's well-known medicinal family remedies is a slur against the favorite medicine which they have been helped and cured by. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a "patent medicine" in any sense; it is simply the favorite remedy which Dr. Pierce used in an extended practice for the treatment of the diseases peculiar to women.

Truth and Influence.

A name for honesty and square dealing is better than great riches. Franking is a bubble that soon bursts. Dr. R. V. Pierce has always been known to speak the truth—his famous medical articles are founded on the rock of public approval and have thousands of truthful testimonials as to their ability to cure diseases for which they are recommended.

True Speaking.

No man ever lost a prospective customer through telling the truth. In the long run Dr. Pierce believes the truth will prevail and he is therefore not afraid to make public his formula.

Valuable Trade Secrets.

The ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are given to the public. He vindicates his excellence and harmless character of his "Prescription" by listing all the women know just what they are taking when they use this reliable tonic and nervine for the diseases and illnesses peculiarly feminine. These ingredients are combined in just the right proportion to make an infallible remedy, without the use of a particle of alcohol, and they are as follows: Golden Seal root, Black Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Blue Cohosh root, Lady's Slipper root, with chemically pure glycerine of proper strength for extracting and preserving the active medicinal principles residing in the above native roots.

No Alcohol Used.

Dr. Pierce never believed it necessary or advisable to use alcohol in the preparation of either his "Favorite Prescription" for weak women, or his "Golden Medical Discovery," the well-known alternative tonic, which is so largely used as a remedy for indigestion, torpid liver, bad blood and kindred ailments. Over forty years ago, he discovered that chemically pure glycerine is a far better solvent of most of the active principles residing in our native medicinal plants when used as a proper and sustained temperature than is alcohol; and, furthermore, he found that a glyceric extract kept much better than an alcoholic one, and that the glycerine possessed intrinsic remedial value, being demulcent, nutritive and an effective anti-ferment. Although costing somewhat more, Dr. Pierce predicts that glyceric medicinal extracts will, in the not distant future, largely replace alcoholic ones so generally prescribed by physicians and put out by proprietary or "patent medicine" manufacturers, as being more efficient and entirely free from the serious objection of making indigestion when used in lingering or chronic cases, where a somewhat protracted use of medicine is necessary to make how good or well adapted to the case it may be in order to obtain permanent results.

Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription."

When the "Favorite Prescription" is not quite laxative enough, as in obstinate constipation, the little, pleasant, sugar-coated pills, known as "Dr. Pierce's Little Pink Pills," are given, two or four for a cathartic. They alone have been known to cure many bad cases of stomach trouble, dyspepsia and indigestion. They regulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Put up in glass vials, sealed, therefore, always fresh and reliable. Pleasant Pellets.

A FAMOUS PLATE.

The First Engraving Was Printed on a Laundry Bundle.

Two groups of tourists were standing in the Pitti palace before the large plate of pure silver upon which Finiguerra, the great master of early engraving, had depicted his lovely "Madonna and Child" in a rolled armor covered with roses. An Italian lady was telling her friends in an undertone the charming anecdote of Finiguerra and the laundress.

The artist, it seems, in mastering the new and difficult art of engraving upon metal had acquired a singular keen eye and delicate touch, and he also possessed a number of very fine and sharp instruments, which he used in his work.

Being a kindly man, he sometimes placed both his sure hand and his fine tools at the service of his friends and neighbors in performing for them some of the simpler operations of surgery until he acquired quite a reputation for his skill in doctoring their hurts.

One day a poor laundress who had been washing clothes, in wringing out a garment in which a needle had been carelessly left, ran it deeply into her hand. Worse yet, it broke off in the wound, and a part remained imbedded in the flesh. She was in much pain, and on her way back from the stream where she had been washing she stopped at the house of the artist and was admitted.

Entering his studio, she hastily set down her wet and heavy bundle and held out the injured hand, begging his assistance. Finiguerra left his work to help her and after long and delicate manipulation extracted the broken needle. The woman thanked him and turned to go, lifting her bundle from its resting place.

Then he saw that she had set it upon one of his engravings. Like all others at that time, it was a plate of engraved metal, complete in itself and regarded as a single and sufficient picture, exactly as if it had been a painting.

But as the damp bundle was raised the quick eye of Finiguerra saw that it had received an impression from the engraved picture beneath, and his quick mind seized at once the suggestion of the possibility of indefinite reproduction from a single original. So, that from the kindness of a great artist to a poor washerwoman sprang the discovery which has placed the beautiful products of the engraver's art within the reach of all of us today.

"Good Enough" Habit.

There is a habit, very easily contracted, which every one in business or otherwise should avoid. It is the "good enough."

If you are building a house and use some faulty timber just because it looks quite right on the surface, what can you expect? Why, that ultimately the weak point will give way and a disaster may occur. So the cautious builder makes sure of using good material.

So it is with every phase of life. Don't be content because a thing is "good enough." Remember the time proved saying that "what is worth doing is worth doing well."

In these days of competition the thing or the man who is "good enough" is of no use. The best is none too good for modern business men and business houses.

Did He?

"I am reminded, boys," said the new teacher, "of the career of a boy who was once no larger than many of you whom I see before me."

"He played truant when he was sent to school, went fishing every Sunday, ran away from home when he was ten years old, learned to drink, smoke, chew tobacco, play cards. He went into bad company, frequented low taprooms and stables, finally became a pickpocket, then a forger, and one day in a fit of drunkenness he committed a cowardly murder."

"Children," he continued impressively, "where do you think that boy is now?"

"He stands before us!" cried one of the youngsters in a shrill voice.

More Than Truth.

"Louise after being scolded could never be reconciled till mother had assured her that she loved her, which resulted on one occasion in the following dialogue:

"You don't love me."

"Yes, I do love you."

"Well, you don't talk like it."

"Well, how do you want me to talk?"

"I want you to talk to me like you do when you have company."—Deineator.

It Would Seem So.

"And does your husband still think you are an angel?" asked the privileged friend.

"I guess so," answered the bride of one short year. "At least he seems to think I don't need any new clothes."—Chicago News.

How Britain Trains Her Sons.

Home life in England lacks the intimacy and the charming sentimentality of German family life. The sons of England have to leave home early in life to go out into the wide world and fight for themselves. They become independent, responsible men much earlier than our sons do.—Berliner Tageblatt.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Hopkinsville People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Hopkinsville.

Miss L. A. Hester, 825 North Main street, Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "I honestly believe that there is little need of any one suffering the torture of backache when such an effective remedy as Doan's Kidney Pills can be procured at L. A. Johnson's drug store. The prompt and thorough relief which followed their use in my case has given me abiding faith in their merits. In the summer of 1903, I was suffering greatly from soreness and lameness across the small of my back and other difficulties arising from a weakness of the kidneys. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills was all I required to free me from the distressing pain in my back and restore my kidneys to a good healthy condition. I recommended Doan's Kidney Pills at that time and during the four years which have elapsed, I still have the same good opinion of the remedy."
